

It pays to find new ways...

COMPUTER SYSTEMS ANALYST

A bachelor's degree with emphasis in computer science is necessary. They earn about $91,000 per year with experience.

Computer systems analysts solve computer problems and apply computer technology to meet the needs of an organization.

They analyze user requirements, procedures, and problems to automate or improve existing systems, and review computer systems capabilities, workflow and scheduling limitations.

Learn more at:

WWW.WRKSOLUTIONS.COM/CAREEREXPLORATION

